Message:

this may sound bad, but i think i'm incest...every time my sister gets near, i want to masterbate, and once, she thought i was goofing around, but i pressed my penis against her butt and had an orgasm. i don't know why...

thank you though ????

i just thought all you sick twisted sexual mutants out there would enjoy this immensely.

Christian creative thought...

I caught part of the Larry King show--he was interviewing the mother of Susan Smith--of drive the kids into the lake, fame. Mommy claimed Susan believed in God, and was so close to her children, that she couldn't bear to think of her children being hurt. So, she killed them so they would be in God's hands and they would never suffer again. I guess she felt she was doing them the ultimate favor. Chrisantiy spawns some interesting behaviors.

family secrets

Thursday, 09-Mar-2000 01:09:36

Hello to all beautiful survivors. I'm Dan. I was sexually abused by various family members and other associates for 20 of my 24 years in this world. I am healing. Life is slowly becoming a wonderful thing to have. I am trying to set up an action group to fight against abuse in all its forms. I am looking for people who are committed to stopping these atrocities by speaking out against the abusers. I will be publishing a magazine in B risbane as well as fighting for funding and sponsorship. I need articles and stories form people like us so please send me whatever you can. This is a war. A war which we must fight and win. Please help us all.

Bored in School

Have you seen the average pay of teachers? It is pretty high. A principal gets over a hundred thousand a year. Teachers have just stopped caring and teaching us things we need in life. We spend half of the day talking to teachers.

We should be treated as more like students ready to learn about the world, instead of pieces of crap that can't carry on a sonversation or a argument without getting disiplined.

Why? We as a nation have stopped caring about everything and schooland goverment are the root of the problem. So I say to get better teachers. but thats impossible these days. So in a nut shell, too bad for the MTV generation

Believers and Lovers

There are no believers here but perhaps there are some lovers. I found the following quote on a web site I imagine some of you might worship named infidels.org and you can find the context of the quote at [www.infidels.org/library/modern/robert-price/beyond-born-again/chap 5.html](http://www.infidels.org/library/modern/robert-price/beyond-born-again/chap 5.html). If I screwed up and you cant find this quote then go to infidels.org and type hans kung in the search engine. Any way, may be some of you great lovers can identify the parallels with belief. "The believer,like the lover,has no conclusive proofs to give him complete security. But the believer too,like the lover,can be completely certain of ther Other by committing himself to the Other. And this certainly is stonger than all the security established by proofs" by "Hans Kung"in "On Being a Christian".I expect most of you will not take this thought seriously and you will have lots of fun with it among yourselves. But maybe there are a few thoughtful atheist who will consider what its saying. My respects to all you unbelievers,though I dont know how you make it through your day knowing your lives are ultimately absurd,it must take a great deal of courage.

"Therapist has crush on me - help!"

Posted by jpholesha on Jan-07-00 at 10:32 AM (EST)

I suspect that my therapist has developed a crush on me. Everytime I go to see him he tells me how beautiful I am and how I have a lovely smile and am soooo smart and all. He always prefaces such statements with "I hope you don't think I'm being overly flirtatious" or "I'm not coming on to you, but...". The thought has crossed my mind that he sees my self esteem is low and is trying to make me feel good. But my self esteem is low in terms of my career prospects NOT my looks. I get enough men leering and gaping at me.....

sound exists with or without the human presence.

the sound, it does not reason but the sound is there nevertheless. the physical act of the tree falling or any other physical act for that matter will still generate sound, the presence of a human is irrelevant to the physics of sound. I fail to see what this has to do with getting on with the business of living in the year 2000 and beyond.

"Uurrrggggghhhh"

Posted by Cloud on Jan-10-00 at 07:15 AM (EST)

Hi there, folks. It's 'Merry Christmas' to me, but not merry at all. I'm playing 'dead'. The head felt like it's going to burst soon, I threw up 3 times and am now feeling light-headed. Drift, drift.... just like a cloud. LOL. Doctor says that there's nothing physically wrong with me, but kept on asking, why are you so stressed? And that these symptoms are due to over stress. Am I? I don't feel stressed at all.

Maybe it's time for me to take a visit to the mental hospital..... When young, we used to think that such places are 'reserved' for the crazy.... so everytime someone shows signs of becoming 'mad', all the friends would suggest that the person go there for a stay.... LOL.My turn now? Hee hee hee.....

My point, can anybody suggest where I go? Someone good to start with. Or any suggestions as to where to find such ppl who can provide good and trustworthy help? ..... Body-Mind QueenDom
